

John Abel, Horse-dealer of Norwich

by Judith Havens

A striking horse monument in Earlham Cemetery marks the grave of John "Jack" Abel 1803-1883. He was a colourful character, well-known in Norwich and further afield, but after his death his story gradually faded into obscurity. This booklet reveals details of his fascinating life as horse-dealer, publican, farmer and money-lender and pinpoints many of the buildings and sites, long since vanished, with which he was associated.

Price £8.00

Available from

Jarrolds; City Bookshop and

jhavenspublishing@gmail.com